JURISDICTION

1. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332, because the amount in controversy as to the Plaintiffs exceed $75,000.00, exclusive of interest and costs, and because Defendants, XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC. and ELI LILLY AND COMPANY are incorporated and have their respective principal places of business in states other than the state in which the named Plaintiffs reside.

2. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining common law and state claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367.

3. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred, in part, in the Southern District of Ohio.

NATURE OF THE CASE

4. This action is brought on by Tammy Gilbert on behalf of her deceased daughter, Kira Gilbert [hereinafter, "decedent"], who was prescribed, purchased and correctly used DARVOCET, also known generically as Propoxyphene Napsylate and Acetaminophen.

5. Defendants, XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC. and ELI LILLY AND COMPANY (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Defendants") designed, researched, manufactured, tested, advertised, promoted, marketed, sold, and distributed DARVOCET for use as a prescription pain management medication.

6. Defendants concealed their knowledge of DARVOCET's defects, from decedent, the FDA, the public in general and/or the medical community specifically.

7. When warning of safety and risks of DARVOCET, Defendants negligently and/or fraudulently represented to the medical and healthcare community, the Food and Drug Administration (hereinafter referred to as "FDA"), to decedent and the public in general, that DARVOCET had been tested and was found to be safe and/or effective for its indicated use.

8. These representations were made by Defendants with the intent of defrauding and deceiving decedent, the public in general, and the medical and healthcare community in particular, and were made with the intent of inducing the public in general, and the medical community in particular, to recommend, dispense and/or purchase DARVOCET for use as a prescription pain management medication, all of which evinced a callous, reckless, willful, depraved indifference to health, safety and welfare of the Plaintiff herein.

9. Defendants negligently and improperly failed to perform sufficient tests, if any, concerning DARVOCET's potential to cause cardiotoxicity and, more specifically, potentially fatal cardiac arrhythmias, during clinical trials, forcing decedent, and her physicians, hospitals, and/or the FDA, to rely on safety information that applies to other prescription pain management medications, which does not entirely and/or necessarily apply to DARVOCET whatsoever.

10. As a result of the defective nature of DARVOCET, those persons who use and/or used and relied on DARVOCET have suffered and/or are at a greatly increased risk of serious and dangerous side effects including, including, inter alia, heart arrhythmias, myocardial infarction, other adverse cardiovascular events and/or sudden death, as well as other severe and personal injuries which are permanent and lasting in nature, physical pain and mental anguish, including diminished enjoyment of life, as well as the need for lifelong medical treatment, monitoring and/or medications, and fear of developing any of the above named health consequences.

11. Decedent herein died as a result of in addition to certain other of the above health consequences all due to her use of DARVOCET prior to her untimely passing at twenty-two (22) years of age.

12. Defendants concealed its knowledge of the defects in its product from the decedent, and her physicians, hospitals, pharmacists, the FDA, and the public in general.

13. Consequently, Plaintiffs seek compensatory damages as a result of decedent's use of DARVOCET, which has caused decedent's death and other injuries prior to her death and has caused Plaintiffs' loss of consortium of their daughter, Kira Gilbert, including diminished enjoyment of life and loss of her companionship, among other losses.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

35. Upon information and belief, Defendant ELI LILLY AND COMPANY was the original holder of the approved NDA application for Darvocet over 50 years ago and did design, research, manufacture, test, advertise, promote, market, sell, distribute, and/or have recently acquired the Defendant who have designed, researched, manufactured, tested, advertised, promoted, marketed, sold and distributed Darvocet for use as a prescription pain management medication for over 40 years.

36. Upon information and belief, Defendant ELI LILLY AND COMPANY continues to benefit from the sale of Darvocet and does so because has continued to license its "know-how" and "trademarks to commercialize Darvon and Darvocet and any other pharmaceutical product containing the active pharmaceutical ingredient Propoxyphene in the United States" to Defendant XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC

37. Upon information and belief AAIPHARMA SERVICES, obtained the rights to the approved New Drug Application for Darvocet from Defendant ELI LILLY AND COMPANY in or around February 2002.

38. Upon information and belief, Defendant XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC., obtained the rights to the approved New Drug Application for Darvocet from AAIPHARMA SERVICES in or around May 2005

39. At all relevant times, Defendants were and remain in the business of and did design, research, manufacture, test, advertise, promote, market, sell, distribute, and/or acquired the a Defendant who designed, researched, manufactured, tested, advertised, promoted, marketed, sold and distributed DARVOCET for use as a prescription pain management medication.

40. At all times relevant, defendant, XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC., focused its sales on pain management products including DARVOCET because the area of pain management offers attractive commercial opportunities in significant markets in the United States; see http://www.xanodyne.com/strategy.asp (as of December 9, 2010).

41. At all times relevant, defendant, XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC., affirmatively decided not to take part in full discovery research of its products because defendant believed that it was more beneficial for it to advance products quickly through abbreviated developmental pathways in order to decrease the time and cost of bringing a new drug to market, see http://www.xanodyne.com/strategy.asp (as of December 9, 2010).

42. By using a strategy of moving its products through the research and development process expeditiously defendant, XANODYNE PHARMACEUTICALS, INC., believes it can reach its goal of becoming a leading integrated specialty pharmaceutical company that develops and commercializes new products for significant markets in pain management, http://www.xanodyne.com/strategy.asp (as of December 9, 2010).

43. About 10 million people in the U.S. received prescriptions for DARVOCET and Propoxyphene related drugs, in 2009 according to the FDA.

44. Upon information and belief, Adverse Event data maintained by the FDA indicates staggering, serious Adverse Events, including, heart arrhythmias, atrial fibrillation, tachycardia, bradycardia, myocardial infarction, and/or sudden death.

45. Defendants ignored the correlation between the use of DARVOCET and the increased risk of developing potentially fatal heart arrhythmias, despite the wealth of scientific and medical evidence available.

46. In June 2009, the European Medicines Agency (EMEA) recommended that the marketing authorizations for Propoxyphene be withdrawn across the European Union for safety concerns.

47. Despite being petitioned by public interest groups to investigate whether DARVOCET was linked to serious and potentially fatal heart arrhythmias, Defendants refused to do so until July 2009, when it was ordered by the FDA to conduct a safety study assessing unanswered questions about the effects of DARVOCET on the heart.

48. Decedent experienced a fatal myocardial infarction (heart attack) on April 9, 2009 as a result of taking DARVOCET.

49. The results of the study order by the FDA indicated that even when taken at recommended doses, Propoxyphene causes significant changes to the electrical activity of the heart. These changes, which can be seen on an electrocardiogram (ECG), can increase the risk for serious abnormal heart rhythms that have been linked to serious adverse effects, including sudden death.

50. On November 19, 2010, the FDA announced that defendant, Xanodyne Pharmaceuticals, Inc., had agreed to halt all U.S. Marketing of DARVOCET after it was determined that the drugs benefits were outweighed by the risks associated with its use, specifically the potential of the drug to cause serious and potentially fatal heart arrhythmias.

51. The use of DARVOCET creates unique and dangerous risks compared to other prescription pain management medications. These risks include, including inter alia heart arrhythmias, myocardial infarction, and other adverse cardiovascular events, including sudden death.

52. The Defendants did not provide adequate warnings to doctors, the health care community and the general public about the increased risk of serious adverse events that are described herein and that have been repeated by the medical community.

53. By reason of the foregoing, decedent suffered myocardial infarction (heart attack) that caused her death as well as other severe and personal injuries prior to her death and her next of kin, the Plaintiffs' herein, suffered the loss of consortium of their twenty-two year old daughter and the consequent loss of enjoyment of life and severe mental anguish and psychological trauma.

76. Defendants are the manufacturers, designers, distributors, sellers, and/or suppliers of DARVOCET.

77. The DARVOCET manufactured and supplied by Defendants was defective in design or formulation in that, when it left the hands of the Defendants, the foreseeable risks of the product, as defined by Ohio Rev. Code §§ 2307.75(B) exceeded the benefits associated with its design or formulation, as defined by Ohio Rev. Code §§ 2307.75(C), or it was more dangerous than an ordinary consumer would expect.

126. (NEGLIGENT AND FRAUDULENT MISREPRESENTATION)

138. Plaintiffs repeat, reiterate and reallege each and every allegation of this Complaint contained in each of the foregoing paragraphs inclusive, with the same force and effect as if more fully set forth herein.

139. The Defendants negligently falsely and/or fraudulently represented to the medical and healthcare community, and to the decedent, and/or the FDA, and the public in general, that said product, DARVOCET, had been tested and was found to be safe and/or effective for prescription pain management and/or negligently and fraudulent concealed such facts.

(d) that Defendants were not aware of dangers in DARVOCET, in addition to and above and beyond those associated with other prescription pain management medications;

(e) that DARVOCET was not defective, and that it did not cause dangerous side effects, including but not limited to higher incidence of heart arrhythmias, myocardial infarction, other adverse cardiovascular events and/or sudden death, in a much more and significant rate than other prescription pain management medications;

(f) that patients did not need to be monitored more regularly than normal while using DARVOCET;

(g) that DARVOCET was not designed and/or manufactured negligently;

(h) that DARVOCET was not designed and/or manufactured defectively;

(i) that DARVOCET was designed and/or manufactured properly;

141. When said representations were made by Defendants, they knew or should have known those representations to be false and they willfully, wantonly and recklessly disregarded whether the representations were true.

142. These representations were made by Defendants with the intent and/or had the consequence of defrauding and deceiving the decedent, the public in general, and the medical and healthcare community in particular, and were made with the intent of inducing the public in general, and the medical and healthcare community in particular, to recommend, prescribe, dispense and/or purchase said product, DARVOCET, for use as a means of prescription pain management, all of which evinced a callous, reckless, willful, depraved indifference to the health, safety and welfare of the decedent and the Plaintiffs herein.

143. At the time the aforesaid representations were made by the Defendants and, at the time the decedent used DARVOCET, the decedent was unaware of the falsity of said representations and reasonably believed them to be true.

152. By virtue of the conscious wrongdoing alleged above, Defendants have been unjustly enriched at the expense of the decedent and/or Plaintiffs, who are entitled in equity, and hereby seek, the disgorgement and restitution of Defendants' wrongful profits, revenues and benefits, to the extent and in the amount deemed appropriate by the Court; and such other relief as the Court deems just and proper to remedy Defendants' unjust enrichment.

156. Defendants intended to increase the sale and consumption of DARVOCET by falsely marketing DARVOCET as safe and effective, and by concealing facts regarding the dangerous properties of DARVOCET, to thereby induce decedent's physicians to prescribe DARVOCET and to ultimately cause decedent to purchase and consume DARVOCET.

157. In purchasing and consuming DARVOCET, decedent reasonably relied upon Defendants' false and misleading assertions and omissions of material fact that DARVOCET was safe and effective as a pain management medication.

158. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' false statements as herein alleged, decedent ingested DARVOCET which led to her untimely death caused by myocardial infarction and other injuries prior to her passing and Plaintiffs suffered harm, damages and the loss of consortium of their daughter.
